Foreword

IT is more true today than ever before that pens and pencils sell themselves.

For the world is now pen and pencil minded. People of all classes recognize the fact that pens and pencils are not only constantly necessary utilities in all occupations and walks of life, but that ownership of modern writing equipment is a mark of distinction and efficiency.

The one big obligation of the manufacturer to the dealer today, and the largest measure of cooperation that any manufacturer can render to the dealer, is to give the dealer products of outstanding attractiveness. The shopper buys what he or she likes. And his choice of a pen or pencil is dictated by the same considerations of style and modernity which apply to the sale of everything today from automobiles down to lipsticks.

Another consideration which dealers universally report as vital in merchandising today is the probable upkeep cost of the article sold. The tremendous sale of the higher quality pens and pencils is motivated largely by a desire for dependability and low cost of maintenance. Real assurance of future economy are always sale-helpful.

Conklin gives the dealer the newest things. And the Conklin Endura unconditional and perpetual service guarantee "says much and means what it says".

This illustrated price list contains information about all Conklin products, so arranged as to facilitate selection with accuracy of the brand new Conklin numbers of latest design and greatest modernity. This information is presented in this modern way for your convenience.

Conklin Ink is a high grade ink especially adapted for use in fountain pens. The Blue-Black ink should be used where permanency is desired. Conklin Blue ink is the ideal fluid for everyday writing where permanency is of secondary importance. It is free flowing, smooth writing and does not dry quickly on the pen point when exposed to the air.
